RELIGIOUS MINISTRY TEAM TRAINING AND READINESS MANUAL

(RMT T&R MANUAL)

Signed 25 Apr 02

PREFACE

Religious Ministry Teams (RMT) assigned to Marine Corps units have a unique and sacred call: to deliver ministry to Sea Services personnel in demanding combat and training environments. They accept the ministerial challenge of serving with and meeting the religious and ethical needs of Marines "in every clime and place." Accomplishing this in an effective, credible, and meaningful way requires systematic and sustained training.

The RMT Training and Readiness (T&R) Manual is a user-friendly guide; it has been prepared for RMTs serving with Marine units. Its training tasks are based on standardized requirements that form the basis of both formal school training at the Chaplain and Religious Program Specialist (RP) schools, for specialized training programs like the Amphibious Expeditionary Ministry Skills Training (AMEX) and Chaplain and RP Expeditionary Skills Training (CREST) courses, and for sustainment training in periodic chaplain and RP training evolutions. We encourage you to use this manual to: a) integrate RMT training requirements into your unit's training plans; b) to help measure your RMT's combat readiness; and c) to prepare for ministry and ministry support on the "green side."

We pray that this RMT T&R Manual will help you develop the field skills necessary to serve confidently, competently, and faithfully with our Nation's premiere expeditionary forces. May God bless you in your mission to the "Soldiers of the Sea."

MARINE CORPS ORDER 3500.44

From: Commandant of the Marine Corps
To: Distribution List

Subj: RELIGIOUS MINISTRY TEAM TRAINING AND READINESS MANUAL
(SHORT TITLE: RMT T&R MANUAL)

Ref: (a) MCRP 3-0A

Encl: (1) Chaplain Training Requirements
(2) Religious Program Specialist Training Requirements

1. Purpose. To publish revised training standards, regulations, and policies prescribing a career continuum Core and Core Plus skills for the religious ministry community serving with FMF units.

2. Background. This Order reflects a holistic approach to training RMT personnel assigned to Marine Corps units with a standardized training plan. The individual training standards (ITS) contained in this Order supersedes the ITS listed in MCO 1510.102 and 1510.109. Those directives will remain in effect for approximately 1 year to support transition to the RMT T&R Manual by the Operating Forces and formal schools. This Order incorporates both ITS and unit/section skills in a progressively more challenging, "building block" approach that leaders can use to develop both the individual abilities and the team skills required of the RMT. This is a comprehensive program order, providing policy, training objectives, and procedural guidance, that is not conducive to a five-paragraph order format.

3. Chaplain. The T&R Manual is a comprehensive, practical training document designed to improve current and future readiness by identifying training requirements and support resources for Navy Chaplains and Religious Program (RP) Specialists serving with Marine Corps units. The Religious Ministry Team (RMT) T&R Manual emphasizes combat mobility, survivability, and field operations. It replaces the ITS orders as a training guide and assigns a Combat Readiness Percentage (CRP) to each training task. The T&R Manual also identifies tasks by billet applicability, enabling trainers to focus training in the appropriate areas. It is designed for use by Active and Reserve RMTs.

DISTRIBUTION STATEMENT A: Approved for public release; distribution is unlimited.

25 Apr 02

a. Unit Training

(1) The T&R Manual trains RMTs to perform as an integral unit in combat. Because unit readiness and individual readiness are directly related, the T&R Manual contains both individual training tasks and section training tasks. Individual training and the mastery of individual skills serve as the building blocks for unit combat readiness.

(2) Guidance concerning unit training management and the process for establishing effective unit training management programs are contained in reference (a).

b. The Holistic Approach To Training. The T&R Manual combines traditional training such as military formal schools, correspondence courses, and On-the-Job Training (OJT), with nontraditional sources such as civilian college courses, other service correspondence courses, professional reading, distance learning, and base training programs. This combination allows the training manager the flexibility to create a diverse training program capable of producing the best-trained RMT possible.

c. The Core Capabilities Methodology

(1) Core Tasks are those essential basic skills qualifying a chaplain to serve with the Marine Corps that are introduced in entry-level training (100 level). Core Plus Tasks are those advanced skills that are mission, rank, or billet specific, and are performed in the 200-300 levels of training.

(2) The tasks contained within this T&R Manual support a common set of skills derived from Subject Matter Experts (SME) and the applicable Marine Corps Combat Readiness Evaluation System (MCCRES) volumes. These common skills provide a Core capability shared by all chaplains serving with the Marine Corps, regardless of unit type or size.

(3) Core capabilities are contained in enclosure (1).

d. Training Progression

(1) Combat Capable Training (100 Level) is the initial field skills training at the formal school, Chaplain and Religious Program Specialist Expeditionary Skills Training (CREST). At its completion, chaplains progress to the Combat Ready tier.

(2) Combat Ready Training (200 Level) trains newly schooled chaplains and makes them proficient in Core Plus capabilities.

(3) Combat Qualification Training (300 Level) produces leaders and fully qualified RMT members. The personnel who are being trained in this tier are those chaplains a commanding officer feels are capable of directing the actions of subordinates during wartime scenarios.

(4) Section Training (400 Level) reflects RMT tasks that directly support the Core Capability List. They are group rather than individual in nature, and require participation by an RMT. Four hundred level tasks, when completed, provide training credit for those individual (200-300 levels) tasks utilized in the completion of the 400 level task.

e. Training Progression Philosophy. The training progression philosophy contained in enclosure (1) describes the typical training progression for chaplains serving with Marine Corps units.

f. Evaluation of Training. Evaluation of the academic portions of the T&R will be conducted either by written or oral examination or a combination of the two. A requirement to produce a product may accompany the task. Operational and system related tasks will be evaluated by means of practical application whenever possible. At the commander's discretion, a chaplain may receive credit for task completion through an oral explanation of the steps or procedures involved rather than by physically performing the task.

g. Components of a T&R Event. An event contained within a T&R Manual is an individual or collective training standard and contains nine components.

EVENT CODE: The code assigned to each task for ease of reference, which identifies individual (100-300 level) or section tasks (400 level).

TASK: A unit of work expressed as a performance-oriented action (i.e., "Type a letter").

CONDITION: The constraints that affect the performance of the task in a real-world environment. It includes equipment, tools, materials, reference requirements and environmental/safety constraints pertaining to task completion.

STANDARD: The basis for judging the effectiveness of the task performance. It identifies the proficiency level for task performance in terms of accuracy, speed, sequencing, and adherence to procedural guidelines. It is not guidance; it is inviolate. Whenever possible, the standard should cite a reference that defines the task in procedural or operational terms.

CONCEPT OF TASK: This paragraph is optional but may be used if the task requires further explanation.

PREREQUISITE(S): A listing of academic training and/or other T&R events which must be completed prior to attempting completion of the task.

REFERENCE(S): A listing of doctrinal or reference publications which may assist the trainee in satisfying the performance standards and the trainer in evaluating the effectiveness of task completion.

ORDNANCE: A listing of ordnance types and quantities required to complete the task.

EXTERNAL SUPPORT REQUIREMENT(S): A listing of the external range, support aircraft, targets, training devices, or other personnel and equipment requirements needed for completion of the task.

h. Combat Readiness Percentage (CRP) Computation

(1) Each task in the T&R Manual has an assigned CRP. The combined CRP total of the Individual tasks of the 100-300 level training is 100%. The breakdown of that 100% CRP for the Individual tasks is as follows: 100 level tasks taught at the Formal School have a total CRP value of 60%; 200 and 300 level tasks have a combined CRP value of 40%.

(2) CRP for 400 level Section tasks is considered separately from the Individual 100-300 level task CRP values. Four hundred level section tasks have a total CRP value of 100% and are not considered in conjunction with the 100-300 level Individual task CRP values. A section that successfully performs its mission can achieve a satisfactory section CRP value even when it is severely undermanned or when the individual members of the section have low Individual CRP ratings in their 100-300 level training.

i. Billet Applicability Matrix. The Billet Applicability Matrix, located at appendix (C), summarizes the tasks that are applicable to specific billets. Utilizing the Automated Training and Readiness Information Management System (ATRIMS) and a syllabus tied to the event codes of the T&R Manual, trainers will quickly establish training priorities. Trainers can determine the training combat readiness of individual chaplains by comparing the chaplain's CRP combined total on the billet specific completed 100-300 level tasks with the total possible CRP value of the chaplain's billet. For example, if a billet has a total possible CRP value of 79.75% and an individual chaplain's total CRP on completed 100-300 level tasks is 50%, a trainer can quickly determine which tasks must be addressed in order to raise the chaplain's individual CRP to a higher level.

(1) Components of the Individual Task Matrix

Event Code - The code assigned to each task for ease of reference, which identifies individual (100-300 level) tasks.

CRP - Quantitative value assigned to each T&R task. Used to calculate Individual CRP.

Sustainment Interval (in months) - Denotes how frequently a chaplain must demonstrate proficiency in the task.

Billet Applicability Checkmark - Specifies which T&R tasks pertain to each specific billet. Trainers can quickly focus each chaplain's instruction on the specific tasks that match the chaplain's billet assignment.

Note 100 level Formal School training (Combat Capable Training) is applicable to all chaplains who attend CREST.

j. Section Applicability Matrix. The Section Applicability Matrix, located at enclosure (1), summarizes the section tasks that are applicable to specific billets. It contains the same components as the Billet Applicability Matrix.

k. Combat Capable Training (100 Level). One hundred level tasks are contained in enclosure (1).

l. Combat Ready Training (200 Level). Two hundred level tasks are contained in enclosure (1).

m. Combat Qualification Training (300 Level). Three hundred level tasks are contained in enclosure (1).

n. Section Training (400 Level). Four hundred level tasks are contained in enclosure (1).

25 Apr 02

o. Special Designations. Completion of the courses of instruction contained in enclosure (1) qualifies the individual chaplain for assignment to specialized billets and/or responsibilities.

p. Academic Training. The academic training contained in enclosure (1) lists civilian college courses, MCI courses, other service correspondence courses, etc., which are beneficial to professional development during 200-300 level training. They provide a chaplain the opportunity to continue with professional development regardless of deployment status or workload.

q. Professional Reading. The professional reading contained in enclosure (1) lists books that are recommended for professional development during 200-300 level training.

r. Event Chaining. Event chaining is contained in enclosure (1).

s. Recommended Formal School Attendance. Billets, which require formal school attendance, are contained in enclosure (1). The formal schools or courses listed are not required, but rather suggested to better prepare the chaplain filling the particular billet.

t. Expendable Ordnance Requirements. Ordnance requirements are contained in enclosure (1), if required.

u. Reference List. The references contained in enclosure (1) shall be employed to determine task performance steps, grading criteria, and ensure standardization of training procedures.

4. Religious Program Specialist. The T&R Manual is a comprehensive, practical training document designed to improve current and future readiness by identifying training requirements and support resources for Navy Chaplains and Religious Program (RP) Specialists serving with Marine Corps units. The RMT T&R Manual emphasizes combat mobility, survivability, and field operations. It replaces the ITS orders as a training guide and assigns a CRP to each training task. The T&R Manual also identifies tasks by billet applicability, enabling trainers to focus training in the appropriate areas. It is designed for use by Active and Reserve RMTs.

a. Unit Training

(1) The T&R Manual trains RMTs to perform as an integral unit in combat. Because unit readiness and individual readiness are directly related, the T&R Manual contains both individual training tasks and section training tasks. Individual training and the mastery of individual skills serve as the building blocks for unit combat readiness.

(2) Guidance concerning unit training management and the process for establishing effective unit training management programs are contained in reference (a).

b. The Holistic Approach To Training. The T&R Manual combines traditional training such as military formal schools, correspondence courses, and OJT, with non-traditional sources such as civilian college courses, other service correspondence courses, professional reading, distance learning, and base training programs. This combination allows the training manager the flexibility to create a diverse training program capable of producing the best-trained RMT possible.

c. The Core Capabilities Methodology

(1) Core Tasks are those essential basic skills qualifying a RP to serve with the Marine Corps that are introduced in entry-level training (100 level). Core Plus Tasks are those advanced skills that are mission, rank, or billet specific, and are performed in the 200-300 levels of training.

(2) The tasks contained within this T&R Manual support a common set of skills derived from SME and the applicable MCCRES volumes. These common skills provide a Core capability shared by all RP serving with the Marine Corps, regardless of unit type or size.

(3) Core capabilities are contained in enclosure (2).

d. Training Progression

(1) Combat Capable Training (100 Level) is the initial field skills training at the formal school, CREST. At its completion, RPs progress to the Combat Ready tier.

(2) Combat Ready Training (200 Level) trains newly schooled RPs, making them proficient in Core Plus capabilities.

(3) Combat Qualification Training (300 Level) produces leaders and fully qualified RMT members. The personnel who are being trained in the Combat Qualification tier are those senior RPs capable of directing the actions of subordinates during wartime scenarios.

(4) Section Training (400 Level) reflects RMT tasks that directly support the Core Capability List. They are group, rather than individual in nature, and require participation by an RMT. Four hundred level tasks, when completed, provide training credit for those individual (200-300 levels) tasks utilized in the completion of the 400 level task.

e. Training Progression Philosophy. The training progression philosophy contained in enclosure (2) is typical for RPs serving with Marine Corps units.

f. Evaluation of Training. Evaluation of the academic portions of the T&R will be conducted either by written or oral examination or a combination of the two. A requirement to produce a product may accompany the task. Operational and system related tasks will be evaluated by means of practical application whenever possible. At the commander's discretion, a RP may receive credit for task completion through an oral explanation of the steps or procedures involved rather than by physically performing the task.

g. Components of a T&R Event. An event contained within a T&R Manual is an individual or collective training standard and contains nine components.

EVENT CODE: The code assigned to each task for ease of reference, which identifies individual (100-300 level) or section tasks (400 level).

TASK: A unit of work expressed as a performance-oriented action (i.e., "Type a letter.").

CONDITION: The constraints that affect the performance of the task in a real-world environment. It includes equipment, tools, materials, reference requirements and environmental/safety constraints pertaining to task completion.

STANDARD: The basis for judging the effectiveness of the task performance. It identifies the proficiency level for task performance in terms of accuracy, speed, sequencing, and adherence to procedural guidelines. It is not guidance; it is inviolate. Whenever possible, the standard should cite a reference that defines the task in procedural or operational terms.

CONCEPT OF TASK: This paragraph is optional but may be used if the task requires further explanation.

PREREQUISITE(S): A listing of academic training and/or other T&R events which must be completed prior to attempting completion of the task.

REFERENCE(S): A listing of doctrinal or reference publications which may assist the trainee in satisfying the performance standards and the trainer in evaluating the effectiveness of task completion.

ORDNANCE: A listing of ordnance types and quantities required to complete the task.

EXTERNAL SUPPORT REQUIREMENT(S): A listing of the external range, support aircraft, targets, training devices, or other personnel and equipment requirements needed for completion of the task.

h. CRP Computation

(1) Each task in the T&R Manual has an assigned CRP. The combined CRP total of the Individual tasks of the 100-300 level training is 100%. The breakdown of that 100% CRP for the Individual tasks is as follows: 100 level tasks taught at the Formal School have a total CRP value of 60%; 200 and 300 level tasks have a combined CRP value of 40%.

(2) CRP for 400 level Section tasks is considered separately from the Individual 100-300 level task CRP values. Four hundred level section tasks have a total CRP value of 100% and are not considered in conjunction with the 100-300 level Individual task CRP values. A section that successfully performs its mission can achieve a satisfactory section CRP value even when it is severely undermanned or when the individual members of the section have low Individual CRP ratings in their 100-300 level training.

i. Billet Applicability Matrix. The Billet Applicability Matrix, located at enclosure (2), summarizes the tasks that are applicable to specific billets. Utilizing the Automated Training and Readiness Information Management System (ATRIMS) and a syllabus tied to the event codes of the T&R Manual, trainers will quickly establish training priorities. Trainers can determine the training combat readiness of individual RPs by comparing the RPs CRP combined total on the billet specific completed 100-300 level tasks with the total possible CRP value of the RPs billet. For example, if a billet has a total possible CRP value of 79.75% and an individual RPs total CRP on completed 100-300 level tasks is 50%, a trainer can quickly determine which tasks must be addressed in order to raise the RPs individual CRP to a higher level.

(1) Components of the Individual Task Matrix

Event Code - The code assigned to each task for ease of

CRP - Quantitative value assigned to each T&R task. Used to calculate Individual CRP.

Sustainment Interval (in months) - Denotes how frequently a RP must demonstrate proficiency in the task.

Billet Applicability Checkmark - Specifies which T&R tasks pertain to each specific billet. Trainers can quickly focus each RPs instruction on the specific tasks that match the RPs billet assignment.

Note 100 level Formal School training (Combat Capable Training) is applicable to all RPs who attend CREST.

j. Section Applicability Matrix. The Section Applicability Matrix, located at enclosure (2), summarizes the section tasks that are applicable to specific billets. It contains the same components as the Billet Applicability Matrix.

k. Combat Capable Training (100 Level). One hundred level tasks are contained in enclosure (2).

l. Combat Ready Training (200 Level). Two hundred level tasks are contained in enclosure (2).

Core Capabilities List

1. Provide/Facilitate religious ministry in an expeditionary environment.
2. Advise the commander on religious ministry support mission and requirements.
3. Advise the commander on unit morale, and moral and ethical issues.
4. Direct RMT personnel assignments.
5. Advise the commander on religious ministry support personnel, resources, and logistics.
6. Advise the commander regarding RMT considerations in T/O&E
7. Provide support to personal and family readiness programs.
8. Develop and implement a Lay Leader Program.
9. Provide an intentional ministry of presence where Marines work and train.
10. Provide or facilitate for religious education/training and spiritual formation.
11. Provide liaison with local religious organizations to enhance military/civilian relations.
12. Manage all USMC administrative and logistical aspects of the command's religious ministry support mission.
13. Provide religious ministry support to the staff planning process.

TRAINING PROGRESSION

The Training Progression Philosophy contained in this Manual is understood to be an assignment progression philosophy applicable to Navy Chaplains assigned to United States Marine Corps billets (Claimancy 27). It is supported through a structured training plan as outlined in this Manual. This plan consists of three levels of individual training (100, 200, 300). The objective of this training plan is to provide Navy Chaplains with the knowledge and experience required to provide effective religious ministry support to the Marine Commander. This objective is accomplished through completion of formal schools, Managed On-the-Job Training (MOJT), deployments, and exercises. Training at the 100 level is designed to provide Navy Chaplains with those core skills necessary to function in an expeditionary environment as part of a Religious Ministry Team (RMT). This training is conducted at the Chaplains and Religious Program Specialist Expeditionary Skills Training (CREST) Course, Camp Lejeune, NC. Training at the 200 level is designed to reinforce core skills and provide core plus skills necessary to fill positions of increased responsibilities as part of an RMT. This level is achieved through MOJT, deployments, and exercises. Training at the 300 level is designed to provide additional core plus skills necessary for the Navy Chaplain to function as a supervisor/mentor of junior chaplains as part of an RMT. This level of RMT training is achieved through deployments, exercises, MOJT, and completion of advanced training courses.

TRAINING PROGRESSION PHILOSOPHY

The Training Progression Philosophy for the Navy Religious Program Specialist (RP) (NEC 2401) is supported through a structured training plan. This plan consists of three levels of individual training (100, 200, 300) and one level of section training (400). The objective of this training plan is to provide Navy RPs with the knowledge and experience required to provide effective religious ministry support to the Marine Commander. This objective is accomplished through completion of formal schools, MOJT, deployments, and exercises. Training at the 100 level is designed to provide Navy RPs with those core skills necessary to function as a Religious Program Specialist in an expeditionary environment. This training is conducted at the Chaplains and Religious Program Specialist Expeditionary Skills Training (CREST), Camp Lejeune, NC. Training at the 200 level is designed to reinforce core skills and provide core plus skills necessary to fill positions of increased responsibilities. This level is achieved through MOJT, deployments and exercises. Training at the 300 level is designed to provide additional core plus skills necessary for the Religious Program Specialist to function as a supervisor/mentor of junior RPs. This level of training is achieved through deployments, exercises, Managed On-the-Job Training (MOJT), and completion of advanced training courses not taken during the RPs training courses not taken during the RPs training progression path.
